

SUSSEX BUNGALOW, ARDINGLY

all Design have created a light, open plan home. It features a dramatic barrel vault roof extension to the rear of the bungalow with bespoke, exposed curved beams, a shiny aluminium roof and four porthole windows; a signature design feature of the designer, the late Will Alsop. The design differs to the surrounding properties and it uses materials ordinarily seen in large scale industrial buildings adapting these to a small scale and detailed specification.

The interior has an industrial feel; metallic finishes and large bifold doors with views out to the garden. The kitchen units are free standing, the lighting subtle and the seating areas varied. The extension has unlocked the potential of the property and turned it into a unique, family home.
